This totally charming fable has intelligent piglet Babe being raised by a matriarch sheepdog named Fly learning the art of sheep herding along with his new canine brothers. Farmer Hoggett, Babe's owner by virtue of a winning raffle ticket, sees that he's more than just a ham and enters them into the world sheepdog herding championship. It's a wonderful piece of whimsy that never crosses the line into treacle. Four different special effects houses were used to make the barnyard animals talk and walk. Filmed on location in Australia; based on Dick King-Smith's book, "The Sheep-Pig."

Please note that the free Family Film Night at the Town Hall has been rescheduled for Friday August 29th at 7:30 p.m. This change was made to avoid conflicting with the August 22nd showing of "My Big Fat Greek Wedding" at the outdoor film Festival at Strathmore Hall. Please come to enjoy BABE...and it is free to all!
